YIN Seminar

Tax treatment of crypto assets

Moderator: Trevor Glavey (Ireland)

Short description

Despite the increasing prevalence of crypto assets many tax policymakers and administrations are still at an early stage when it comes to addressing their tax implications.

With crypto assets being a new phenomenon lawmakers can follow different approaches to the tax consequences across the various stages of their lifecycle. New concepts like blockchain also need to be understood and added to our lexicon when considering the issues involved. In addition, besides the mere trade in such assets many more activities such as mining and staking must be considered.

Join us at the YIN Seminar at the IFA Congress in Berlin on 6 September at 15.30 where we will explore some of the key concepts, discuss the tax challenges regarding the tax treatment of crypto assets and consider some of the developing responses from around the world with our panel of experts.
